Institution	Profession	Type	Population	Organization Name	Description	More Information
Washington University School of Medicine	Medicine	Specialty Interest	Pediatrics	Med-Peds Interest Group (MPIG)	The Med-Peds Interest Group (MPIG) is a student interest group focused on the unique specialty of Combined Internal Medicine and Pediatrics. Our goals are to provide opportunities for students to learn about the philosophy, values, training opportunities, and career opportunities that exist within med-peds, and provide mentorship and guidance to students wishing to match into med-peds. MPIG events include faculty and guest speaker lunch talks, formal clerkship and match guidance events, and career and match related panels. MPIG maintains a network of current students interested in med-peds, WUSM alumni with careers in med-peds, and local med-peds physicians in order to foster mentorship and access to opportunities such as shadowing. We hope to introduce WUSM students to a specialty with limited presence at our institution and provide a formal structure to help WUSM students pursuing med-peds achieve their goals.	https://mdstudentaffairs.wustl.edu/student-groups/
Washington University School of Medicine	Medicine	Education	-	Medical Education Interest Group (MEIG)	The Medical Education Interest Group seeks to bring together students and faculty who are interested in learning about the practical aspects of teaching. Through a combination of roundtable discussions, workshops, and mentorship opportunities, we hope to expose students to the various ways education can manifest itself during a physician's career. We also hope to provide students with an opportunity to learn about best practices in modern medical education and to gain practical experience applying those skills under faculty supervision.	https://mdstudentaffairs.wustl.edu/student-groups/

Washington University School of Medicine	Medicine	Specialty Interest	-	MO M-1 Conference	Each year nearly 900 medical students enter one of the six medical schools in the state of Missouri. Unfortunately there are very few, if any, opportunities for students from different schools to interact before they begin to practice medicine. The purpose of MO M-1 is to provide this initial exposure, with the goal of creating a supportive network of future healthcare workers. In addition, MO M-1 offers incoming students exposure to medically related issues (political, social, and educational) that they may not otherwise have the opportunity to discover. MO M-1 is an important venue for exposing Missouri's future physicians to the changing world of medicine.	https://mdstudentaffairs.wustl.edu/student-groups/
